CLASS HISTORY

Our years ago we entered the bewildering realm of high school. Because of our great number we were divided. The girls were placed in Mrs. Bost's class and the boys in Mr. Coulter's room. These two teachers held hands at the job of taming freshmen so we soon became accustomed to our new place.

The next year we were filling the important middle course; we were neither as bewildered as freshmen nor as free as upper-classmen. We spent the year in stolid application to duty and in anticipating the day when we would have the coveted position of juniors.

In September 1940 we gained that place. After we had spent a few weeks indolently enjoying our new freedom we settled down to the business of passing our third year courses and obtaining the money from the Seniors of '41 the lovely Banquet they deserved. On March eighteenth we realized the last aim of the big moments in our young lives, our first Junior-Senior Banquet.

September twelfth, nineteen forty-one, we were Seniors! After that day we began to realize just how the world really is. So many things to do and such a short time to do them in.

On September twentieth we, along with the other N. C. Seniors were invited to see the Carolina-Rhine game at Chapel Hill. Several of us got a little sun-burn and dust mixed with our fun but it was wonderful.

Another red letter date of the year was October tenth, the day we got our class rings.

At the beginning of the last term we really started working. The war rather dimmed our enjoyment of a few days by depriving us of our Washington trip, but we soon recovered from that disappointment amidst of all the other things we had to do.

Cards and announcements had to be ordered, caps and gowns measured, a commencement program made and our Annual-plans worked out. Throughout this and our numerous other senior activities we were greatly guided by Mr. Wall. Not one of us could fail to be deeply grateful for his cooperation.

Now as our last year in Cooleemee High School comes to a close and we face a future not too pleasant; let us remember with a lasting pleasure the time we have spent here. May our successors be as happy as we have been.

EVELYN TUTTEROW,
Class Historian.

CLASS SONG

(Tune: Auld Lang Syne)

We love our dear old Senior Class,
The Class of '42,
We'll try to make the best success,
In our future lives, so true.

To you, dear Juniors everyone,
We're leaving you behind,
We hope that you'll climb on and on,
Still farther up the line.

Through these long years, we've struggled hard
To reach this shining goal,
But we'll ne'er regret that we went on,
And fought the battle bold.

There's nothing like those "Old School Days",
We've left them in the past,
Steer straight, my friends, and onward bound,
Till the end has come at last.

Now we will wipe our tearful eyes,
And for success, we'll pray,
Where'er we are, we'll think of you,
For we hate to go away.

We wish to bid our last farewell,
As we're leaving you to go,
To face this world that God hath made,
And fight against the foe.

—Dorothy Daniel,

CLASS POEM

Our life's road has been a difficult one,
We've traveled through storm and under sun,
We've trodden along the winding road,
To do our best, to carry our load,
Our mistakes were great, our learning too,
And our success will carry us through.

Though God looks down on us still,
Our years we went through was His will,
And yet, as we face the world today,
What will become of us, no-one but God can say.
Some of us may be rich, others poor,
But either way, we carry on as before.

The world today is in bitter strife,
For lack of God, man loses life,
But through the conflicts of the world today,
Should carry on its weary way,
We have learning to guide us along,
To keep us from the sinful wrong.

The boys, the girls, we call our friends,
We may never see or hear tell of again,
Soldiers, nurses, some may be,
To fight for God and our liberty.
But what ever we do on this earthly place,
We'll meet again, someday, face to face.

Say Good-by to your school and those dear,
For our departing time is drawing near,
Let God keep us and bless us too,
To lead our way, in whatever we do,
Forget him not, in work, or fun,
For without Him, we'd have never won.

Let us pay tribute to the memory of school,
For it was there we were taught the "Golden Rule",
Let us all keep it, as our motto,
At home, at work, wherever you go.
Let us do right, the things we must,
For the "United States is our country", and
"In God We Trust".

—Jimmy Jordan.
